

The first line of one of William Wordsworth's sonnets is "The World is too much with us." Write for three of four minutes about what is "too much" with your world. What overwhelms you?

Then read and take notes on the sonnet.